

12 August 2009

EXPLORA + WINE OFFERS NEW CHILEAN ADVENTURES *NEW

POSTED 12 AUGUST 2009

Explora, the pioneering tour operator specialising in South America's most remote and unexplored areas, has joined forces with CV Family Estates to offer exclusive wine tours in Atacama, Patagonia or on the Easter Island. From this month, Explora travellers can combine their trips with one- or two-day tailor-made excursions in the Alto Cachapoal Valley wine region, complete with tastings at the Viña Porta wineries and walks through the vineyards. The one-day programme starts at US$120 per person, including accommodation and transfers to and from Santiago, but you can also get an "Explora Passport" with complimentary one-night stays at Casa Porta for travellers who have already booked stays at two Explora properties, or two free nights if you've booked stays at three properties.

www.explora.com

See CNTraveller.com's guides to Chile here